YOUTH HAS ITS SWING

Youth must have its "swing" and two unidentified girls combine pleasure with compassion for crippled children as they enjoy the Kelowna Shrine Club sponsored Shrine Carnival which began in the city Friday and continues today. In fact, it's kiddies day today at the carnival located on Highway 97 behind Arena Motors, offering such thrilling, enticing as round-up, scrambler, crazy castle, fun tunnel, tilt-a-wheel and paratroopers. Biggest attraction, of course, is for the parents, who can send offspring to "circus" and contribute to a worthy cause at the same time. (Courier Photo)

Another Jet Jacker Floats To Escape With $500,000

PROVO, Utah (AP) — A manhunt focused on this central Utah city today for a young hijacker who leaped from a United Air Lines 727 jetliner Friday night with $500,000 ransom after forcing a zigzag flight across the western United States.

Aerial flares lighted early-morning skies over nearby Utah as hundreds of police started a search for the armed man. This was the seventh time in just less than five months that a hijacker and ransom figure in airline piracy.

The nine-hour odyssey began over the Rocky Mountains almost 30 minutes after the plane left Denver when a mousta-chiod passenger wearing mirrored sunglasses, a pink shirt and a blue pinstripe suit ordered the Los Angeles-bound plane diverted to San Francisco. SAW NOTES PASSED

Mrs. Dick McLennan of Denver, who sat next to the hijacker, said she saw no weapon but did see the man pass notes to the captain.

A CBS reporter on the plane, Jim Kilpatrick, said: "The notes that were passed back and forth were all pre-written."

Sandy Wilkinson, a 25-year-old off-duty UAL stewardess on the flight, said she did not see any weapons either but was told the hijacker had a hand grenade and pistol.

All but three of the 85 passengers boarded in Denver, where airline officials said the only security precaution was a check of passengers against a "profile" of hijacker characteristics.

The airline did not immediately know the sex of the three passengers who remained on board Flight 855 from its origin in Newark, N.J.

SAT ON RUNWAY

For three hours the plane sat at the far end of Runway 19-Left, about a mile from main terminal at San Francisco International Airport, while the hijacker demanded four parachutes, fuel for 4,000 miles of flight and $500,000. The money in two suitcases was placed on a ramp about 100 feet from the plane and picked up.

The passengers and one stewardess then were allowed to leave the plane and it took off, headed east.

Kidnapper Picks Up $290,000

SAN JUAN (AP) — A gunman abducted a Puerto Rican banker Friday, picked up $290,000 in ransom, then hijacked a plane and took his hostage to Cuba, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported today.

The $290,000 was paid by the Banco Popular, largest on the island, for the ransom of Jose Luis Carrion, the bank's executive vice-president.

Clark D. Anderson, special agent in charge of the FBI's San Juan office, identified the robber-hijacker as Jose Luis Lugo, a former Roman Catholic church administrator.

Anderson said "Lugo is in custody of Cuban authorities."

Billy Carrion, a brother, said the vice-president was driving to the bank's offices when an armed man jumped into the car and forced him to drive away.

Jose Luis Carrion made several telephone calls to his office requesting the money and the bank's controller was instructed to stand in front of the bank with the money, the brother reported. Later he drove up in his car with an unknown man, picked up the money and drove away.

It was reported Carrion and his abductor arrived in Cuba this morning. They and a crew of two landed in Camaguey, in east-central Cuba aboard a four-engine aircraft belonging to Prinair, a Puerto Rico-based commuter airline whose president is another brother of Carrion.

A request for the release of Carrion, the crew and the plane was sent to the Swiss embassy in Havana.

The U.S. has no direct diplomatic ties with Cuba.

Zanzibar Leader Assassinated One Killer Slain, Three Escape

DAR ES SALAAM (Reuters) — Zanzibar leader Sheikh Abeid Karume was assassinated Friday night, President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania announced today.

In a radio announcement, Nyerere said: "With deep sorrow the president and the government of the United Republic of Tanzania have to announce that the first vice-president of the United Republic and chairman of the Zanzibar Revolutionary Council, Sheikh Abeid Karume, was yesterday assassinated in Zanzibar."

The assassination took place while Karume and other island leaders were relaxing at the headquarters of the governing Afro-Shirazi party, the statement said.

One assassin was shot but three others escaped. Karume died almost immediately, it said.

Sheikh Thabit Kombo, secretary-general of the Afro-Shirazi party, also was wounded in the attack and is in hospital.

Earlier today the government of Zanzibar clamped a curfew on the spice island and cut its links with the outside world. Originally no reason for the moves was given. In Dar es Salaam, diplomatic sources said there were reports of troops in the streets of Zanzibar, but there had been no armed clashes.

Zanzibar radio, in an announcement in Swahili repeated several times, said no one was permitted on the streets, no aircraft was allowed to enter the island's air space and no ships were to enter its inshore area.

The radio said the measures will stay in effect until issuance of another government announcement.

$ Million Picture Stolen In Italy

CATANIA, Sicily (Reuters) — Thieves have stolen a painting of the Doge of Venice by a 16th-century Italian master, Vittore Carpaccio, from a house here, police reported Friday.

Priest Passes On Explosive Parcel

GENOA, Italy (Reuters) — A Roman Catholic priest handed the chief of Genoa's political police a surprise package Friday night. It contained 127 sticks of dynamite, 100 German-made detonators and 30 yards of fuse. It came from a young political extremist stricken by conscience, who confessed to the priest that he was involved in sabotage attempts, and was persuaded to hand over the materials.

MINOR CALLS

Friday was quiet for the Kelowna Fire Department with two minor calls reported. Firemen answered a burning complaint at 336 Bernard Ave., about 4:10 p.m., and were summoned again at 7:45 p.m., to 845 Leon Ave., to check an overheated fireplace flue. No accidents requiring ambulance service were reported.

CBC Clears Ice Time For Hockey

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC has cleared the way for the remainder of the National Hockey League quarter-final playoffs to be seen in all parts of the country by allowing its privately-owned affiliate stations to join the CTV network for the telecasts.

CBC affiliate stations to receive NHL telecasts tonight include Sydney, N.S., Kingston, Pembroke, Windsor, Sault Ste. Marie and Thunder Bay in Ontario; Brandon, Man., Yorkton, Prince Albert and Swift Current in Saskatchewan; Medicine Hat, Red Deer and Lloydminster in Alberta and Kamloops, B.C.

CBC spokesman Cecil Smith said Friday that in the CBC's eyes this was not splitting its network because the same right was offered to all affiliates without discrimination. However, CTV chose which CBC affiliates will be added to its network, omitting those which cover areas where CTV is available.

In addition to tonight's game, the same stations will receive games Sunday, Tuesday and next Thursday and Sunday if the series go that far.

The affiliates plug gaps in the CTV network, where there had been no TV of the first two games of the Toronto-Boston and Montreal-New York series.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Dr. John Willis Hursi said today former president Lyndon B. Johnson suffered a heart attack early Friday morning.

TAKE IT EASY ON THAT MILK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Milk may be good for your bones but bad for your heart, a doctor suggested Friday as an old argument flared anew.

Dr. Forrest H. Adams told the American Heart Association symposium that the butterfat content of whole milk may present a danger of heart disease to people who drink a lot of it.

"If we're going to continue to use milk, it should be skim milk," said Dr. Adams, a pediatrician from the University of California at Los Angeles.

Dr. David Boyd of Boston, president of the American College of Chest Physicians, agreed with Dr. Adams that the widespread use of whole milk beyond infancy poses a threat.

But Dr. Michael DeBakey, the noted Texas heart surgeon, countered:

"The evidence is not clear that milk, for example, or foods that have high-fat content are causes of atherosclerosis."

"The 'holy' value of milk should be de-emphasized, and its real value put into proper perspective," Dr. Adams said.

"Milk is a good source of protein," he continued. "But it's my understanding that the main value of milk, beyond the infancy period, is that it is a source of calcium."

U.S., Canada Split Sighted

TORONTO (CP) — The Star says a Canadian-United States study warns that unemployment and the need to create millions of jobs could lead to major disagreements between Canada and the United States in the 1970s.

A "new reality" in Canadian-U.S. relations is "present unemployment and concern over its persistence," says the study, published by a committee of major Canadian and U.S. businessmen, labor leaders and other officials.

The concern to create jobs in Canada and the U.S. will strongly influence their relations with each other, the study says.

The newspaper quotes the study as saying that "indeed, it is possible that each country will, in its own way, move towards a position where major projects of investment, trade or economic co-operation generally must, before approval, come under close scrutiny for their effects, not merely on mainly on balance of trade or payments, but of employment."

Canadian businessmen on the committee include J. L. Walker, president of the Bank of Montreal, T. N. Beaupre, chairman of Dometic and John Clyne, chairman of MacMillan Bloedel.

Labour leaders include Donald MacDonald, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, William Mahoney, Canadian director of the United Steel Workers of America, and William Ladman, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The concession is political, Mr. Anderson conceded, and results from the political clout of grain shippers.

Figures are not available, but it is estimated that the northern B.C. sawmill operators have lost hundreds of thousands of dollars because of the shortage of railway cars.

Well-To-Do Name For Horse Race

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Graham Thorne rode Well To Do to victory in the Aintree Grand National Steeplechase today — rated the toughest horse race in the world.

Well To Do is owned by Captain Tim Foster.

In a dramatic finish in the race of four miles, 850 yards and over 30 imposing fences, Gay Trip, who won in 1970, came second, with a deadheat for third place between Black Secret and General Symonds, both Irish-owned.

Well To Do, a 14-to-1 choice, won by two lengths, and three lengths separated second and third.

The official Vietnam news agency said Communist troops eliminated an armored regiment and two artillery battalions and accepted the surrender of the 5th Tactical Group in an area north of Saigon Thursday.

Minister Clears Montreal Police In Cuban Affair

OTTAWA (CP) — C. M. Drury, acting external affairs minister, said Saturday the federal government is not blaming Montreal police for police actions following a bombing at the Cuban trade commission in Montreal last Tuesday.

"They acted in perfectly good faith in the execution of their duties," Mr. Drury said in an interview.

Six Cubans were arrested after a bomb exploded in the one Cuban guard and injuring another man in a building where the trade commission is located.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro charged Montreal police with using "brutal and fascist methods" in the investigation and Mr. Drury apologized Friday to Cuba for the "intrusion" by police into the trade commission.

STATUS 'CLARIFIED'

Mr. Drury told reporters Friday that in a meeting with Cuban Ambassador Jose Fernandez de Cossio he "clarified the status" of the trade commission which was entitled to diplomatic immunity.

Quebec Justice Minister Jerome Choquette Friday defended Montreal police against Premier Castro's accusations. He said he would not judge Mr. Drury's Friday statement "except to say that for my part I cannot consider that there are grounds to cast any blame whatsoever on the Montreal police."

Mr. Drury said Saturday that the federal government is "not levelling any blame on the police either."

There seemed to have been a lack of public knowledge about the diplomatic immunity of the trade commission.

No Decision On Arrested Men

QUEBEC (CP) — Justice Minister Jerome Choquette says he will not decide whether to drop charges against six Cubans arrested following a bombing at the Cuban trade commission in Montreal last Tuesday.

He told reporters the government is "discussing the question of immunity with the authorities in Quebec" and hopes to have the charges dropped.

WAITERS FOR RULING

Mr. Choquette said Friday, however, he is still awaiting a declaration on the status of the Cubans before deciding whether to withdraw charges.

Neither Mr. Drury nor officials of the external affairs department were available for comment on Mr. Choquette's remarks.

Mr. Drury said Thursday there was some doubt about the status of one of the six Cubans — Pascual Acosta Armin — but Ottawa was making representations to Quebec on behalf of the other five.

The Cubans are free pending a court appearance April 11.

North Interior Lumbermen Seek Full Merger With CFI

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — Plagued by falling membership, the Northern Interior Lumbermen's Association voted Friday to seek a full merger with the Council of Forest Industries of B.C.

Association members voted unanimously at the 32nd annual meeting to ask CFI to prepare costs and organizational details of such a merger.

The association now is an affiliate member of CFI. The Council of Forest Industries is the main spokesman for the coastal firms in all matters except labor negotiations and is heavily involved in overseas promotion of forest products. Its head office is in Vancouver.

The move for the merger came suddenly at the closing day of the NILA meetings after retiring president W. J. Hutton had earlier sounded a warning about problems that would involve the industry if the association became fragmented.

NILA membership has gradually diminished as many of the independent lumber operators in the north-central part of B.C. merged or were bought out.

Several big pulp mill companies have become dominant in the sawmill industry, although there are several strong and independent operators.

Mr. Hutton, in his annual report, said loss of membership in the last three years is going to create budget problems for NILA, which pays for its operations on a production fee basis. NILA expenditures in 1971 were $418,000. The proposed budget for 1972 is $515,000.

"I just can't comprehend the thinking of these (withdrawing) mills who are benefitting 100 per cent from the efforts of your association in the fields of marketing, grading, transportation and, to a degree, forestry," Mr. Hutton said.

NILA has also handled labor negotiations for member sawmills.

TO VISIT CHINA

TOKYO (Reuters) — Former foreign minister Takeo Miki said Saturday he will leave for Peking April 13 for a one-week visit to China. Miki, considered one of the candidates to succeed Premier Eisaku Sato, was invited by Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

WOULD USE OCEAN

BOMBAY, India (Reuters) — Admiral Sergei Gorshkov, Soviet navy chief and a deputy defence minister, said Friday Russia is interested in using the Indian Ocean for its space program. The admiral added that Russia had no military or naval bases in the Indian Ocean and was not interested in establishing any.

Mexico Names Peking Envoy

MEXICO CITY (Reuters) — Mexico Friday night appointed a 33-year-old economist as its ambassador to Peking while China named a seasoned diplomat to represent it here, Hsiao Hsiao-hui, a former charge d'affaires in London, was named China's new ambassador. Mexico's new ambassador is Eugenio Aguilaro Roch, former ambassador to Costa Rica.

Mr. Drury said Saturday that the federal government is "not levelling any blame on the police either."

There seemed to have been a lack of public knowledge about the diplomatic immunity of the trade commission.

Strike Near In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — The city's 4,000 outside workers plan to go on strike Monday unless a new contract is reached with city hall, a union spokesman said Friday night.

Russell Doyle, president of Local 43, Canadian Union of Public Employees, said civic representatives are "not negotiating at all."

The first effect of the strike would be no garbage collection. Other union members operate water plants, clean streets and drive ambulances.

A news broadcast has been placed on talks, expected to go round-the-clock during the weekend. Talks are being conducted by Ontario mediator William McGuire and William Dickie, assistant deputy labor minister.

The workers have asked for a $30 increase in their present rate of $143.20 a week, plus long-term disability pension and other fringe benefits.

Seventy-Three Set Free Amid More Ulster Strife

BELFAST (Reuters)—Seventy-three persons detained under internment were back with their families today after being released Friday amid the worst violence in Northern Ireland in two weeks.

Outside Belfast three youths, two aged 17 and one 18, were blown to bits when a bomb they were working on exploded in a garage. In the city a soldier was shot to death and three bombs exploded in busy shopping streets. In Londonderry, soldiers fought an hour-long gun battle with Irish Republican Army snipers and there were other shooting incidents.

The upsurge in violence underlined a warning from the IRA's militant Provisional wing that the fight in Northern Ireland will continue despite concessions by Britain and calls from some Catholic elements for peace.

Release of the internees, part of a British government promise when direct rule was imposed last week that a start to scaling down internment would be made, was announced by the British minister in charge of Northern Ireland, William Whitelaw.

"I hope that today's release may herald the beginning of a phasing out of internment, but I must place on record once more that in considering the cases of internees I must have regard to the current security situation," he said.

WOMEN APPLAUD

As the freed men went to their homes, housewives lined the streets and clapped and cheered.

The 73 were among the 915 persons still detained under the internment policy since it was introduced last year. Their release drew a mixed reaction.

Leaders of the Northern Ireland Civil Rights Association and the Social and Democratic Labor party welcomed it, but some critics termed it an act of appeasement.

Rory O'Brady, leader of Sinn Fein, the IRA's political arm, said in Dublin the internees are being used as hostages.

Release of the 73 "made no difference whatever to the situation," he said. "The mood of the people and the fighting organizations is to finish it off this time for all time."

The Provisionals said Thursday that they will continue to fight in Northern Ireland, a decision regarded as reflecting the IRA's fears that since they have no political standing, their influence over developments would disappear if shooting stopped.

FAULKNER COMMENTS

Brian Faulkner, deposed as prime minister under the British suspension of the Northern Irish parliament, said of Whitehall's action: "I do not criticize his decision, but I would be very critical indeed if, in the absence of any positive response to his gesture, he continued to release internees, thus seriously endangering the lives and property of many innocent people in Northern Ireland."

A spokesman for the Ulster Vanguard Movement, which has opposed the British government's action in Northern Ireland, said it was a further means of meeting the claims of the Northern Ireland rebels.

"The policies adopted by the various administrations since 1968 have been on the lines of appeasing and placating the minority," the Vanguard statement said.

"In the light of the number of explosions which have taken place today it is a disgraceful decision of Whitehall to release the 73 internees and at the same time close down HMS Maidstone as a prison ship," the statement added.

Whitelaw also announced Friday that the ship, where prisoners have been on a hunger strike lately to protest their food, will be closed as a prison.

Support for freeing detainees came also from Jack Lynch, premier of the Irish republic. "I am glad to see that a first step has been taken in the dismantlement of internment which shows good intent on the part of Whitehall," he said. "I hope that this process will continue as expeditiously as possible."

Lake Clean-Up To Be Costly

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States share of the Great Lakes clean-up agreement President Nixon will sign next week in Ottawa could cost as much as $2 billion, government officials say.

Previous estimates of $2 billion are far too low, the sources indicate, and wouldn't even meet the U.S. obligations for the first year of the three-year construction program.

The U.S. total includes the cost to states and cities bordering the Great Lakes. The officials would not disclose the Canadian share but indicated it would be considerably less.

"We're the ones who have put the dirt in so we're the ones who have to pay to clean them up," one source said, adding that $2 billion a year for the U.S. payment "was well within the ballpark."

Officials said the agreement, which has been under some times fitful negotiation since 1964, deals primarily with construction of sewage treatment plants.

DETAILS SECRET

Details of the pact have not been made public. For that matter, there has been no official acknowledgment that the agreement has been reached.

But officials in Ottawa and Washington say privately President Nixon and Prime Minister Trudeau will sign the accord just before the American chief executive ends his three-day visit to Ottawa a week from today.

Actually, all but the finishing touches were in place by last month, but the Canadian government agreed to hold back announcement until Nixon's visit starting next Thursday, some U.S. sources say.

The president wanted that arrangement so he could have something definite to show for the Canadian trip, which is otherwise not expected to produce any concrete results in terms of breaking down the current U.S.-Canadian economic disputes.

Volts Surge By Crane Driver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four thousand volts of electricity surged around Vernon Brown for almost an hour Friday, but he came out of the ordeal unhurt.

Mr. Brown was operating an overhead construction crane in suburban Burnaby municipality when a cement bucket he was lifting was blown into nearby high-tension wires, and became entangled.

Sparks flew and Mr. Brown sat tight, waiting for the power in the wires to be shut off. Burnaby fire officials said the crane operator was not electrocuted because the cab of his crane is made of wood and is insulated.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

B.C. Election Rumors Buzz

Education Minister Donald Brothers added to speculation Friday that British Columbia's Social Credit administration will seek a fresh mandate from the electorate shortly. While unveiling a model of a $1 million provincial government building planned in Trail, Mr. Brothers said he expects a provincial election to be called "any time now."

Mr. Brothers is expected to win nomination as Social Credit candidate for Rossland-Trail, the seat he now represents in the legislature, at a party nominating meeting today.

And in Vancouver Derril Warren, leader of the British Columbia Progressive Conservative Party, predicted Friday that "we will be going to the polls in late May or early June."

Ontario Premier William Davis said Friday in Hamilton that, despite an average increase of $100 in Ontario university tuition fees, students will still pay only a small portion of the tax load borne by the public for post-secondary education.

A spokesman for the British Columbia government employees union Friday condemned Premier Bennett's imposition of a 6 1/2-per-cent limit on pay raises for government employees as "simplistic nonsense." John Fraser, general secretary of the union said in Vancouver he was confident most of the union members would reject the ceiling in a ratification vote to be conducted later this month by the union.

Serious financial problems may force Les Feux Folies, known as Canada's national folk dance team, to suspend operations for at least this year, Jean Douville, company administrator, said Thursday in Montreal.

Education Minister Donald Brothers has been given authority in Victoria to devise school-year calendars to suit the needs of individual school districts or schools. New regulations approved by the provincial cabinet and made public Friday state the school year shall last from July 1 to the following June 30. Within this limit, the minister can provide for a year-round public school, the semester system and other variations in the use of schools.

Canadians can expect health-hazard warnings on cigarette packages by the end of the summer, federal Health Minister John Munro said Friday in St. Catharines, Ont. Speaking at Brock University, Mr. Munro said cigarette manufacturers have volunteered to place warnings on their products.

Most children's car seats now being sold in Canada will be banned from the market this month, a spokesman for the department of consumer affairs said Friday in Ottawa. Mel Jack, information officer for the department, said regulations will come into effect "in two or three weeks" requiring the seats to pass a static strength test now in use in the United States.

Two M1 rifles with full clips were entered Friday as evidence in the kidnapping trial of Jacques Rose, now in its sixth week in Montreal. Rose, a 24-year-old former mechanic, is charged with the abduction of Pierre Laporte from in front of his suburban St. Lambert home in 1970. Mr. Laporte, then Quebec labor minister, was found strangled a week later, Oct. 17.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia called on the federal government Friday to establish immediate controls on prices, wages and interest. In a telegram to Finance Minister John Turner, Mr. Bennett said: "Due to present dangerous inflationary forces now in full operation, which caused the United States to make a 180-degree change in its economic and financial policies, this is to officially advise you the British Columbia government has already put in effect a six and one-half per cent wage ceiling applying immediately to all groups who receive their finances from British Columbia taxpayers."

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield takes a two-day swing through Ontario next week, visiting Kingston, Toronto, Brantford, Burlington and Hamilton. During the tour, he will take part in several open-line radio shows, hold two news conferences, tape a television interview, address a nominating meeting and speak to high school students.

President Alejandro Lanusse of Mendoza suspended electric bills for Argentine consumers Tuesday night after the death toll in this week's violence over price increases. The latest victims of the strife that began with rioting Tuesday were a woman teacher and a high school student, both shot to death. Lanusse announced over radio and television that electricity billings since Jan. 1 were suspended and that a committee would be appointed to study the rates.

The Senate judiciary committee voted 8 to 7 Friday to expand its investigation of the activities of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. and to end the investigation April 20. Chairman James O. Eastland, a Mississippi Democrat, said in Washington the hearing will resume Monday and will include allegations by Life magazine on improprieties by the justice department in addition to the qualifications of Richard G. Kleindienst to be U.S. attorney-general.

What Should Be Done With Seaplane Base Land?

WILLIAM WINKLER

William Winkler — I'm fairly new here, but I've been looking for a park. I feel the present park is too small for the population and also for the number of people who are bound to come here. George Chaisson —

GEORGE CHAISSON

We're recent arrivals here from Calgary, but I've been following it and I think the Regatta committee should have control over it, in co-operation with the city. But I definitely think the area should be turned into a park.

LOIS HAMMILL

Lois Hammill — I like the Regatta location idea. I don't think it should be turned over to a private developer. I just like the idea of a park and the city should do something about it. Neil Miller — I've only been living here a little while and I don't really know too much about it. But if you ask me, give it back to the people... we can't have enough parks. Linda Anstett — I think it should be a park, yes, but I don't think it should just be given to the Regatta. They've got enough already. But it's all right if they use it. Penny Anderson — 190 Benchview Road, Rutland, thinks the land could best be used as a "European-type" youth hostel or a community centre. Her preference, however, leaned more toward a hostel, although "not the kind we have on Sutherland Avenue." John Clark — 1190 Kelview St., had to think long and hard on the question before committing himself. His preference was a swimming facility which he said would be safer than Hot Sands beach. Mrs. Frank Hebig — 761 Clement Ave., has been a Kelowna resident for eight years and also had trouble deciding the best use for the property in question. She did think a park "would be nice" or maybe a development for homes or apartments. Another alternative would be a boat harbor, she said.

MUSICALLY SPEAKING

Chief Dan George Great But Not With Rock Sound

By BETHEL STEELE

The add reads: Chief Dan George plus Fireweed. It should have read: Fireweed plus Chief Dan George, for the CKOV 63 One Night Only performance in the Community Theatre Thursday night.

Luckily the road manager, Mr. Gregerson phoned me earlier in the day or I would have been at the theatre at seven for the full blast of the Fireweed cacophony. I have tried, believe me, to listen to and understand "rock"... at least the rock we are deluged with here in the backwoods. I know what these young people think they are doing but I will never quite catch up with the frightful and overpowering sound that deafens and distorts what is coming from the sound system. But then that is their privilege... only I do not appreciate being inveigled to hear one of nature's noblemen under false pretenses.

ILL-ADVISED

Chief Dan George has been ill-advised to associate himself with a cultural form with which his own has little or no communication. Perhaps Fireweed will draw a cross section of the public which otherwise would never hear him. At best they hear him and see his lovely daughter dance to the disadvantage of both. For one thing the usual rock lighting is always so dim as to obscure anything else on stage.

Chief Dan George should travel for his concerts with a true folksinger only. The dances need only his chanting and the beat of a drum. Surely there are troubadours about, a wandering minstrel in the true sense of the word who would accompany Chief Dan George in his native songs and dances. This is a man great with the wisdom of his years and people; noble with the dignity of a fine gentleman. He needs bend to no one or plead for his own fine histrionic ability will do that far better. Sincerity always shows its face no matter the circumstances and the public will always rise to it as it did to the reciting of the Indian prayer Thursday night.

FELT HUMBLE

I felt very humble before this man, this gentleman. Just the reciting of the prayer and his speech as given July 1, 1967 and so full of imagery that my childhood love of my country was with me again. I heard again the call of the loon, the whisper of the wings of the great flights of Canada geese and the sound of many waters.

And I saw too the wild flowers of which the Fireweed is one of the Northwest's most beautiful. Not the Fireweed heard as of "a tale told by an idiot, full of sound and fury, signifying nothing." (Shakespeare's MacBeth)

When first reported Chief Dan George would play Leary in next season's Vancouver Playhouse production of the Shakespeare play, I was sceptical and I am afraid contemptuous. I take it all back. The voice is a great and mighty organ and the inner man has very much to say. I hope to hear him when he plays.

Come back again Chief Dan but not with a fireweed derailed beyond all recognition.

Cancer Drive Starts Soon

The local branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, under campaign chairman Howard Caruthers, is getting primed for its annual fund-raising drive scheduled April 16 to 23.

The local group hopes to surpass last year's $23,000 contribution to the provincial target which this year has been set at $700,000. Nationally, the campaign hopes to raise $7,296,225 this year in the continual battle to beat the dread disease.

"Kelowna and district have been outstanding in the drive," says Mr. Caruthers, who will be aided by three sub-chairmen in the district during the campaign. Okanagan Centre, Rutland and Winfield areas will be under the direction of Win Shillock, with Maurice Blyton directing the Westbank, Lakeview Heights and Casa Loma drive, and Robert Atkens in charge of the Okanagan Mission area.

About 230 canvassers have been lined up for the city and district campaign.

Campfire Permits Are Not Required

Campfire permits, necessary during the province's fire seasons for the past 45 summers, will not be required this year.

An amendment to the Forest Act, introduced at the recent session of the legislature, said the campfire permit system no longer provided sufficient benefits in relation to cost and administrative effort.

With the system now abolished, the B.C. Forest Service is planning an extensive publicity program to explain to residents and tourists the dangers and high costs of forest fires.

During last year's fire season the cost of fighting nearly 3,000 forest fires amounted to $10,700,000.

Showers

The weatherman promises a bleak Sunday with little change from current conditions of overcast skies and showers. Friday's high and low in the city was 52 and 34, with a trace of rain and snow, compared with 57, 30 and the same kind of precipitation the same day at the airport. High Sunday is expected to be 50, with an overnight low tonight near 30 degrees.

B AND E

Local RCMP are investigating a reported breaking and entering at Chicken on the Way, Highway 97. Thieves tampered with a cigarette machine and an unknown quantity of money was stolen. The incidence was reported at 9:03 a.m.

Things One Finds In Police Custody

Over the months, the storage garage at the back of the RCMP building can get full of miscellaneous articles, lost and turned over to the police.

Citizens who find bikes and other articles on their property, and who can't find the owners, bring the articles to the police, or in some cases, the police obtain items through various investigations and keep them in the storage garage. One officer said he had seen the garage covered from wall to wall and two feet thick with items being stored.

The articles are kept for six months and then turned over to the city. City council, at a meeting held Tuesday, agreed to hold an auction. The date hasn't been announced yet. However, the auctions are usually held annually and Harry Hall, finance director at city hall, said the auctions may be held more frequently, because more and more stuff is coming in.

There may be a number of people walking, for the majority of items to be auctioned off are bikes, ranging in size from tricycles to men's 10-speeds. And if you are building a bike of your own there are several bike frames only.

The bikes may come in handy for the careless souls who misplaced various sized car tires. They too, will be auctioned off. If you do choose to bid on a bike frame only, be sure to also bid on the few tool boxes and contents that are available.

SUITCASE

The old standby for travellers — the suitcase, is another interesting item to go. Perhaps, in great haste to catch a flight, someone forgot to include his suitcase on the plane. When one bids on this type of item, he never knows what goodies are inside. The contents are also included in the bids.

If you're the type who feels the cost of necessities of life are too expensive, the auction could be your answer.

There's a leather jacket, one shopping bag full of clothing, one cardboard box with contents, including canned goods, and, for a woman, who usually feels a handbag is a necessity, there are handbags arriving just in time for spring.

Got a garbage eater you love? Someone was kind enough to include one black plastic garbage bag and contents on the list.

City Poison Control Centre Treated 127 Last Year

Last year, 127 children and adults were treated at the poison control centre at the Kelowna General Hospital, while another 67 were treated at the centre in Penticon.

Eighty-one of the total number for both hospitals ingested sleeping pills or tranquilizers; 27 patients ingested aspirin and 24 had ingested prescribed drugs.

$3,800 Council Awards Given Two Students

Two UBC students, G. M. Beabout and G. V. Gibb, both of Kelowna, have received $3,800 each from the National Research Council of Canada.

The council has awarded 1,921 post-graduate scholarships and 165 post-doctorate fellowships for 1972-73, with a total value of approximately $9,500,000.

The scholarships all have a value of $3,800 for 12 months. Post-doctorate fellowships are valued at $7,400 for single and married fellows and $8,000 for married fellows with children, for 12 months.

Of the 1,921 scholarships awarded, 1,867 are for graduate work at Canadian universities and 54 for graduate work at universities abroad. Of the 165 post-doctorate fellowships awarded, 97 are for work in Canada and 68 are tenable in other countries.

The two Kelowna students will work in British Columbia.

IN COURT

Sandeno Gneo of Revelstoke was fined a total of $275 in provincial court today before Judge R. J. S. Moir on separate charges of failing to display proper licence plate decals and having no insurance. He pleaded guilty to the charges.

Charges of impaired driving and refusing to take a breathalyzer test against Bruce Leo Rooney of Kamloops, were remanded to April 14. No plea was entered.

Philip George May was remanded to Monday for sentencing on a plea of guilty to a charge of possession of LSD.

Police Continue Search For Fourth Lake Victim

Kelowna RCMP are helping Penticon police with a continued search for the body of Douglas Jesspersen, 14, of Delta, believed drowned with three Summerland youths in Okanagan Lake Thursday.

The bodies of James and Michael Bennett, 17 and 13, and Gerald Huva, were discovered Friday morning off Rattlesnake Island near Peachland. Police said all three were wearing life jackets and earlier Friday, their water-filled, 14-foot wooden boat powered by a 35 hp motor was discovered beached near Peachland.

Summerland RCMP said Friday the boys were reported missing about 6:30 p.m., Thursday after leaving Summerland around 8 a.m. the same day on a fishing jaunt. Search teams, including an aircraft from Penticon, failed to find any trace of the group and their boat was later discovered near Peachland about 6:30 a.m., Friday.

Police said equipment in the boat was intact but life jackets were missing and the boat's floorboard was found nearby.

The bodies were discovered by a Penticon search and rescue team, part of a search force of 12 boats (five from Kelowna) and an aircraft.

Although unconfirmed officially, the boys are believed to have used of exposure in the sub-normally chilly Okanagan Lake waters which were stirred up by an afternoon storm Thursday in which 40 mph wind gusts from the north were reported.

Kelowna deputy fire chief Jack Roberts, in charge of the Kelowna search and rescue unit, said Friday life jackets would not have made any difference in current Okanagan Lake temperatures.

The bodies of two Kelowna men, Henry Fehr and Herb Sisson, believed drowned in Okanagan Lake while on a fishing trip Feb. 25, haven't yet been recovered.

Tree Fruit, Sun-Rype Merger Proposal Plans Progressing

A proposed merger of B.C. Tree Fruits and Sun-Rype Products Ltd., initially announced by Ian Greenwood, BCTF general manager, at the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association in January, is progressing, according to Mr. Greenwood.

He said Tuesday the sales and advertising departments should be consolidated by the end of the year, adding administration and finance departments have now been fully joined with the move of Sun-Rype into the BCTF building.

Further plans in the merger include moving staffs of both operations into one building. The Tree Fruits building on Water Street is currently listed for sale and was constructed in the early 1940s. Mr. Greenwood said no action will be taken on the possibility of expansion of the Sun-Rype premises. The two firms will retain their separate legal identities.

On the current apple situation, Mr. Greenwood said McIntosh and spartan crops have moved out, leaving golden delicious, red delicious and wine-saps for which markets were "good."

He added there was a high inventory on golden delicious on the Canadian market, and a good quantity of red delicious have moved to the United States.

Total shipments to the U.S., are down in the 1971-72 year compared with 1970, with the 1971 shipping crop described as the "lowest on record."

Mr. Greenwood also disclosed that BCTF will likely soon appoint a trading company in Japan, although there were still some sanitation problems with that market, he added, alluding to the cooling moth fear by the Japanese. A trading company would be named in the interim preparatory to the time when B.C. apples could be shipped to Japanese markets.

The Kelowna Babe Ruth League will hold a walkathon on April 30 to raise money for their organization. The walkathon date was changed from April 27.

KLT Sets Dates For 'Bus Stop'

Rutland Student Attends Eckanker Youth Conference

During the Easter weekend, Peter Syssoev of Rutland, attended the Third International Eckanker Youth Conference, in Los Angeles, Calif.

Peter, and 11 other "chelas" (students in Eckanker) rented a small bus and drove the 1,500 miles to Los Angeles.

Eckanker is the ancient pathway of soul travel to the inner planes under the guidance of Mahantra, the Inner Master.

This was Peter's first Eckanker seminar, he met Sri Dharma Goss, the Living Eck Master. Peter heard lectures by the Master and other Eck "chelas". He attended workshops of music and art in Eck, a drama based on "The Tigris and the Euphrates", a book by Sri Paul Twitichill, the past Living Eck Master and present Mahantra.

The program included poetry and creative dancing. The workshops and lectures covered many varied subjects based on the needs of youth of today.

Peter attended the local Satguru Adult Eckanker group on Wednesday night to tell of his "Eckperiences" in Los Angeles.

The two other "chelas" in the youth group are Richard Atterly, Rutland, and Debbie Bandurka of Kelowna.

Meetings are held every Sunday afternoon for the youth with one session a month for art or music.

Mrs. Henry Head, of Kelowna, is the present leader for adults and teen-agers. There are discussions held for teen-agers and adults, with books, tapes and records, all available in Eckanker, for spiritual liberation, wisdom, and charity, when one is ready.

VISITED KELOWNA

Founded St. John Ambulance

BY MARY GREER
Courier Staff

"Every man should have a hobby; something different from his daily work and something other people may benefit from."

A young English stone cutter apprentice took these words to heart and in searching for a suitable hobby to pursue, William Loveday, by coincidence also read that same evening of the St. John Ambulance starting a first aid class.

The classes appealed to the young man and after discussing it with his parents he enrolled and was successful in obtaining his certificate in December of 1906. He immigrated to Canada in March, 1908 and in due course joined the congregation of a small church in London, Ont., where he located.

HANDBALL GAME

During mid-week church activities, William and some of his companions decided to play handball with the carpet bowling balls, as young men will do, and a wild throw resulted in a smashed nose. While some of the others rushed off to get a doctor, William applied his first aid skills to slapping the hemorrhage of the goal milder's nose.

The doctor was so impressed when he examined the patient that he complimented the young Englishman and expressed surprise that a young layman knew what to do and how to do it so well.

Subsequent inquiries from other young men led to demonstrations of artificial respiration

... founder

and bandaging and other first aid techniques.

When a friend, a veteran of the Boer War, who also had St. John Ambulance training arrived in Canada, William persuaded him to join the same church and in November of 1908 the first meeting was held to organize a unit of St. John Ambulance. From that first beginning the association has grown to more than 500 units across Canada in almost every major community.

The 85 year old founder, who was in Kelowna recently visiting relatives, explains that there are three formations in the Order of St. John; St. John Ambulance Association; St. John Ambulance Brigade and the Olpha Hospital in Jerusalem.

The association teaches and trains men and women in first aid, home nursing and child care.

Members of the brigade retain their efficiency, he says, by being re-examined annually in first aid and home nursing techniques. While on duty at public functions they wear the prescribed uniforms, so that they may be easily recognized in a crowd. They serve at many public functions such as hockey games, agricultural fairs and rallies, wherever a large crowd congregates. Although there is no unit in Kelowna there are many units in other British Columbia cities, including Vancouver and Victoria.

Mr. Loveday who has continued his vocation of stone cutting at London, Ont., eventually became owner of the business he started with, retiring three years ago.

During his 62 years in St. John Ambulance work he has received many honors which he treasures. He was made a member of the Order in 1936 and promoted to an officer in 1943 and commander in 1950. In 1968 he received one of the highest honors in the order, he was made Knight of Grace. When he retired he was district superintendent of Western Ontario District.

Although he was one of the first to enlist in the First World War, he never was drafted for overseas duty. Instead he was put in charge of instructing soldiers how to use their field dressings, fastened to the inside of their tunics.

With a keener than usual memory, Mr. Loveday recalls the pleasure he derived from letters he received from soldiers, telling him how his instructions had saved a limb and just as often a life.

He also remembers that the first industry to see the value of first aid training for employees was the McClary Manufacturing plant at London, Ont. This too, has spread, and today, most industries and employers provide first aid classes, or encourage them.

Another memory which brings a gleam to the grey old gentleman's eyes is the first tent erected for first aid at the western fair at London, Ont., in 1910. This has been replaced with a permanent building at the exhibition grounds which is used during the year for many events.

During his years of St. John Ambulance work he has also encouraged transport people to take this training. Drivers with this training who are on the public highway, save many lives and limbs, he said.

At present he is honorary president of the London branch and a member of the Priory Council of Canada, and still a keen advocate of first aid training for men and women; on the job and in the home; on the highway and everywhere.

Can We Have Fellowship With The Risen Jesus?

The New Testament tells us that after his resurrection, Jesus Christ "showed himself alive to his followers by many proofs." And he was seen of them at different times for 40 days during which he spoke to them of things pertaining to the kingdom of God. Forty days of fellowship with the risen Christ.

But that fellowship did not cease, although it assumed a different character after he returned to heaven. For while they did not see him as before, his risen life and presence was with them by the Holy Spirit.

Before he suffered on the cross Jesus told his disciples that he would not return to heaven and leave them alone in the world as his servants, but he would "come to them" in the person of the Spirit. The Holy Spirit would be his presence in their hearts, bringing to them the life and power of his resurrection. By the Spirit he would make himself known to them. And he promised that he would make himself known to all who loved him.

To love the Lord Jesus Christ is to have the self-revelation of himself in the heart. It is to know him and the power of his resurrection filling the life. "He that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him." (John 14:21). But what does it mean to love Christ? To love Christ is to believe on him, hear his words. "He that has my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me." (v.21).

"If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him." (John 14:23). Then Christ puts it in another way in Revelation ch. 3:20; "Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." Christ knocks at the heart by his word; I believe, and thus open the door, and he comes in to make himself known in all his life and power. "What a fellowship! What a joy divine! What about you? Do you have his fellowship? His word still stands. "He that loveth me . . . I will love him, and will manifest myself to him."

Come in, oh come! The door stands open now;

I know Thy voice; Lord Jesus, it is Thou;
The sun has set long since; the storms begin;

'Tis time for Thee, my Saviour; oh come in!

—James E. Storey, Pastor, Bethel Baptist Church, Kelowna.

Penal System Criticized

(Galt Reporter)

Do reformatories really reform? Do penitentiaries really make people penitents?

In the opinion of Dr. Ralph Dent, of Guelph, both fail to achieve the basic purpose for which they were instituted.

As chairman of the educational psychology branch of the University of Toronto's college of education, Dr. Dent's objection to the punitive attitude of society as a solution to problems is based on substantial personal involvement. This includes considerable psychology work for penal institutions with an on-the-scene opportunity.

Speaking recently to a seminar of the Canadian Institute of Management, at Kitchener, Dr. Dent in questioning the system of punishment for crime, provided data to support his argument.

Perhaps his strongest argument is the statistical information that the Canadian penal system, which is supposed to correct behavior, actually engenders a return-to-jail ratio of 80 per cent.

Dr. Dent blames this on what he terms negative reinforcement prisoners receive in corrective institutions.

His theory of positive reinforcement has failed, at least to date, to impress prison authorities. He said that this theory, applied in industry, has proven very effective in higher production results. He is convinced the same beneficial results would be obtained by its application to the penal system.

One phase of the positive approach to a modern-day concept of behavior correction advanced by Dr. Dent is a plan of awarding prisoners "tokens" for good conduct. These could be used to buy them such concessions as better meals, a more comfortable bed, a game of billiards, a night at the movies or even a weekend at home with their families once a month.

Penal reform systems have, over the years, left much to be desired. They have provoked sharply varied attitudes, not only among those in administrative capacities, but by the general public.

Determination of a "cure-all" plan, which could conceivably solve the many problems of the penal system, is an impossible goal that even the most optimistic appreciate cannot be achieved.

The 80 per cent return-to-jail ratio is, however, a most alarming statistic which clearly points up that the existing system is highly suspect.

Whether Dr. Dent's theory converted to practice would lower the incidence of return-to-jail is questionable.

Prison authorities are, no doubt, more concerned than anyone over the success vs. failure of the penal system and rehabilitation.

A policy advocated by some extremists to just "lock them up and throw away the key", is certainly not the answer. Conversely, "molly-coddling" criminals falls into the same category.

The problem is centuries-old and, while advances have been made its resolution in total will probably never be completely accomplished. It is mandatory, however, that every medium which would contribute toward such a goal be employed.

Educationists Across Ontario Worried At Increase In Fees

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Educationists across Ontario have expressed fear that the increased tuition fees recently announced in the provincial budget might hamper students from low and middle income groups.

The fees are being increased by $100 and student teachers and nurses are going to be charged tuition fees for the first time.

Dr. Jan Steiner, an associate dean at the University of Toronto medical school, warned that medical schools "will again become the preserve only for the privileged."

President Davidson Dunt of Carleton University, Ottawa, labelled the fee increase "a reactionary move." He said it would raise substantial financial barriers to higher education and said "the effect will be felt particularly by students from middle- and lower-income brackets and all the many students who are living financially independent of their parents."

Dr. Roger Guidon, rector of the University of Ottawa, said the increase "threatens discrimination against the very students who need aid most."

At Carleton next year, tuition fees, including the $100 increase, will be $641.50 for arts and science and $701.50 for engineering.

MAY AID STUDENT NURSES
The Registered Nurses Association of Ontario intends to consider providing financial assistance to students already in nursing schools.

Laura Barr, the association's executive director, said the group accepts the new tuition fees as "being realistic" but said they might hurt students already in nursing education programs.

A survey of university fee schedules across the country indicated other boosts in tuition were not expected but that students in other provinces were also caught in a cost squeeze.

Geoff Holmes, executive director of the Association of Atlantic Universities, said fees probably will remain static in the Atlantic region this year but noted "fees here are the highest in the country."

Tuition fees range to a high of $835 a year for dentistry at Dalhousie University in Halifax. Medicine is $815 and arts and science costs students $720 a year.

HOLD THE LINE

British Columbia's universities have indicated an effort to hold the line on tuition costs. Fees now range from $412 for nursing to $893 for dentistry.

Most faculties in Alberta universities cost $400 with engineering and medicine somewhat higher.

Tuition fees in Manitoba average about $425 and there are no plans to change fees in the fall. Saskatchewan has a similar price range with dentistry and medicine more costly.

Newfoundland's Memorial University operates on the semester system and fees average about $750 a year.

In Quebec, each university sets its own fees, ranging between $500 and $650 for arts and $550 and $700 for engineering. The provincial government now is working on a plan to standardize fees at all universities.

Lowring Of Dairy Cattle Nice, But Not Like Power Toboggans

LA SALLE, Man. (CP) — Enterprising farmer Maurice Sherwood is finding the purring of power toboggans a more lucrative sound than the lowing of dairy cattle.

Mr. Sherwood, 32, has developed Evening Star Snowmobile Resort, and his land, which once lay idle save for the occasional straying Holstein, this winter paid dividends as terrain for power toboggan enthusiasts.

A native of the La Salle area on the southeastern outskirts of Winnipeg, Mr. Sherwood decided to turn part of his 450-acre spread into a snowmobile resort two years ago after a trip to Quebec.

"They had many snowmobile-ski resorts, and I figured with the popularity of snowmobiling in Manitoba, it might be worth a gamble," he says.

He sold half a milk-producing contract to raise capital, and an 80-foot by 40-foot licensed club house and adjoining patio with seating space for 120 was erected in time for last winter's snowmobile season.

Although his land along the Sale River lacks the slopes needed for skiing, snowmobilers in increasing numbers have paid the membership fees of $1 a head to tool around the farm on their machines.

"I felt it was a real gamble investing as much as I did, but the response has been overwhelming and we may some day have to expand our facilities," he says.

"We sold 2,700 tickets, all from the clubhouse, last year, and our membership sales have reached 3,000 this season."

With the snowmobile business booming, Mr. Sherwood is looking for new possibilities for his land.

He has had several offers from outside interests to turn the property into a year-round recreation centre, but the idea he likes best is turning it into a country club. "I want to put a canopy over the patio, take out a cabaret licence and turn on the dance music,"

Newly-Discovered Cave People Will Be Allowed To Remain Alone

MANILA (AP) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos declared the newly-discovered hominids of the cave-dwelling Tasaday tribe off limits to all outsiders, reserving the area in the southern Philippines for the gentle Stone-Age people.

At a ceremony at the presidential palace, Marcos said he was reserving a 24,700-acre area in Cotabato province in the southern Philippines island of Mindanao for the Neolithic Tasadays and another more advanced tribe living in the general area, the Manobo Bill.

Marcos said the Tasaday area would be free from "entry, sale, lease, exploitation or other disposition."

His proclamation followed a widely publicized expedition sponsored by the presidential office on national minorities, which found the Tasadays living in three large caves deep in the Tasaday rain forest.

The 47-member expedition that included the American aviator and conservationist, Charles Lindbergh, went to the caves of the Tasadays on March 23. A U.S. Air Force helicopter rescued the group Sunday after its helicopter broke down and food began to run low.

There are 11 adult Tasadays and 13 children. The adults said Elizabeth's party was the first outsiders ever to visit their cave homes high up a steep mountain, deep in the forest.

QUEBEC PRESS SAYS:

Report On Constitution Not Big On Originality

This is a selection of editorials on current topics, translated from the French-language press of Canada.

Montreal La Presse: Canadian editorials have not seen great originality in the Molgat-MacGuigan report on reform of the constitution. Here in Quebec, it was especially noted that some members dissociated themselves from the committee and published minority reports.

However, the principal report contains some worthwhile suggestions, and especially has the merit of making all Canada reflect on what would happen in the case of Quebec's secession from Confederation.

While understanding that such a document could not have pleased everyone, it would be wrong to dismiss it without examination on the grounds that nationalists find it does not attach enough importance to what they confusedly call "la societe quebecoise."

It is worthwhile to emphasize the first recommendation, concerning the sharing of powers: decentralization of cultural and social policies and "centralization of the powers having an important economic repercussion on the national level." That is an elegant way of not taking a stand between the two schools in Canada—autonomists and centralists.

The recommendation which causes the most reflection is the one saying that the existence of Canadian society depends on the free consent of its citizens, and that in the case of the withdrawal of one province from Confederation, the matter would be decided by negotiation rather than by force.

The notorious question of the eventual separation of Quebec . . . is discussed endlessly in many quarters. There are three hypotheses:

—Revolutionaries could try to achieve Quebec's separation by force. In such a case the Canadian army would have no choice but to intervene to re-establish order.

—A democratic vote might establish clearly and unequivocally that the great majority of Quebecers is in favor of separation. In such a case, the 10 provinces would probably grant the necessary unanimity to ask London for powers to amend the constitution so as to make the separation legal.

—It could also happen that after a democratic vote, or after a non-conclusive vote, that some Quebec or Canadian elements would use force to try to prevent the province's separation. Here again, the army should intervene for the same reason, to re-establish order.

It appears that military action will depend, not on Ottawa's impulse to prevent separation, but on citizens in one camp or the other using force to achieve or prevent Quebec's separation.

It remains that the recommendation is original. It states the freedom of Canadians to belong to Confederation without granting them the right to destroy it.—Jean Pelletier (April 3)

Granby La Voix de l'Est: At a time when a minimum guaranteed wage is an issue in Quebec, it is not without interest that we see the president of the United States demand the adoption of a bill reforming social assistance, which will cost $14 billion a year.

The bill would assure a minimum wage of $1 an hour by instituting reduced unemployment benefits to workers insufficiently remunerated. This minimum could reach $4,300 a year.

According to the White House leader, this constitutes an incentive to work while social assistance at present "pushes poor people to inaction and to dependence on the state, contrary to their dignity." It would cost only an additional $5 billion, and as Mr. Nixon states, its effect would be more positive.

Mr. Nixon is right to want to replace the social assistance program by a more constructive program.

In Quebec, we know what it costs to assure the welfare of those unable to live by their own means. Now, this program, as does the current American program, encourages inaction on the part of those who might otherwise find a job.

It is urgent that we modify the program so that it becomes more of an incentive to work and the people who benefit from it become active members of society.—Roland Gagne (March 30)

Moncton L'Evangeline: Mayor Jeonard Jones is making himself a virulent opponent of bilingualism in Moncton, in New Brunswick and in Canada. He is borrowing from the demagoguery of a George Wallace.

A wall of incomprehension exists between Mayor Jones and the Francophone community of Moncton. Mayor Jones has raised himself as the proud defender of English unilingualism.

Editorialists have been wondering for a certain time if the mayor's extremism will not engender further extremism, either English or French.

It is obvious that for some persons, promoters of the bilingual cause in Moncton are extremists.

But there are different forms of extremism.

L'Evangeline's editorial policy is never to publish an anonymous document. The paper will, however, respect the anonymity of an author if they know his name.

For the first time, let us speak for a document whose authors we do not know. We are departing from the traditional rule of journalism since we feel the plans of these authors should not see the light of day. . . .

Last Sunday, we received a statement, printed, it seemed, by many hands, and signed only "the Leloutre cell." Abbey Leloutre was an Acadian missionary in the 18th century.

The statement demanded immediate and complete publication. Nothing has been published. We have received statement No. 2 demanding the publication of the first statement.

The statement is not the work of an emotional author. It is well thought out and makes only veiled threats.

It is statements like these that will excite the imagination of young Acadians frustrated by the extremism of Mayor Jones. The second statement said we are all working for the same cause. It is true we are all working for bilingualism . . . but violence only engenders violence.

The situation in Moncton is becoming more and more critical. . . . The formation of a secret French group is heavy with consequences.

Will moderate citizens allow extremists to rule the city. . . ?

If the city council and moderate citizens permit extremists to carry the ball, God help this city and its inhabitants.—Claude Bourque (March 30)

CANADA'S STORY

Edmonton Saved By Daring Rider

By BOB BOWMAN

This is the anniversary of James Mowat's ride from Edmonton to Calgary in 1885. It should be as well known to Canadians as Paul Revere's ride to Americans (and Canadians, for that matter).

Early in the Northwest Rebellion the Indians camped outside Edmonton, beating their war drums day and night. The situation was critical because there were only 30 men capable of defending the community and their only guns were muzzle-loading muskets made about 1857. There was no ammunition, so the Edmonton volunteers had to make their own lead balls and gunpowder.

Apart from a frontal attack, it was also feared that the Indians might shoot flaming arrows over the walls and set the community on fire.

Help from outside was urgently needed and it was known that there was a military detachment in Calgary. James Mowat volunteered to try to get there on horseback.

He left early on the morning of April 8. It is said that an Indian village never sleeps but Mowat made his way so quietly that even the dogs did not bark.

Then he began the 200-mile ride to Calgary in bitterly cold weather. He only stopped to change horses along the way and get a bit of food.

The sleepless trip took 36 hours but Mowat got to Calgary safely, where he told General Strange about the situation in Edmonton. Troops began their march on April 20 but Mowat had already returned to Edmonton carrying copies of the Calgary Herald with news on April 13.

When the Indians learned that troops were coming they stopped beating their drums and went back to farming.

An old canon that the Edmonton defenders were hoping to use is on display now in the legislative assembly grounds.

Are you beginning to think this way about funerals?

☐ I think many people buying a funeral end up paying far more than originally planned, possibly because they are emotionally bewildered at the time.

☐ Money spent on elaborate funerals would be better spent among the living.

☐ I want my funeral, including cremation or burial, to cost under $300.

☐ I think embalming, for purposes of displaying the body, is an unnecessary indignity.

☐ I am repelled by putting a body on display with the face made up to look "natural".

☐ I favour a closed coffin, a private cremation or burial, with perhaps a memorial service after, for friends and relatives.

☐ I feel strongly enough about these matters that I would like to support an organization dedicated to promoting simpler, less costly, more dignified funeral practices.

☐ I would like to receive a simple plan which lets me record my wishes in privacy, so that they may be filed with a non-profit organization I know will carry out my wishes after death. This also saves my next-of-kin from making these difficult decisions under emotional stress.

If you feel this way you are not alone. Over 60,000 people now belong to the Memorial Society of B.C. If you move, your membership can be easily transferred to other societies throughout North America at little or no cost.

Up, Up And Away '72 Opens Season For 'See Men'

Kelowna's Lady of the Lake candidates embarked on a cruise of rousing nautical fashions and colors Friday night at the Kelowna Community Theatre.

Produced by Director of Royalty, Mrs. Norman Hilborn, the parade of fashions from Simpsons-Sears was a "see-man's" success.

In a stage setting of gypsies ablaze with bright colored burges and red side flanks decorated with huge white anchors and life buoys, the show directed by candidate co-ordinator Barbara Elliott got off to a heady start. The 12 candidates all in identical navy body suits, with navy pany hose, made a nautical salute in their grand entrance.

Candidates were: Carol Zayance, Miss A.C.T.; Susan Riddell, Miss Legion; Donna Hamilton, Miss Kiwanis; Jacqueline Muir, Miss Teen Town; Birgit Moeller, Miss Harmonie; Annette Glover, Miss Snowmobile; Virginia Slobodian, Miss Kinsmen; Carol Prytula, Miss Beta Sigma Phi; Lindsay Ritchie, Miss Gyo; Joanne Wolfe, Miss Canadian Forester; Judy Allan, Miss Jaycee and Nancy Clark, Miss Rotary.

Other models taking part included Todd and Michelle Runnalls, Betty-Anne Harney, Lisa Brent, Mrs. Jean Stewart, Bob Harrison and Mark Felesky. After overcoming their initial shyness the very young children, Todd, Michelle and Lisa loved the audience almost as much as the crowd loved them—scene stealers, who obviously were entranced with the commentator, Margie Schuett, fashion consultant for Simpsons-Sears from Vancouver.

Miss Schuett's colorful descriptions and poetic comments, put the crowd into a "sit back and relax" mood. This, plus Mrs. R. C. Aitken's background melodies, made the evening enjoyable from both a fashion point of view and a girl watching criteria.

NIGHT THINGS

As soft as a new dawn, as colorful as a bed of tulips and varied as the spring weather, were the sleep wear fashions modelled. Flounces, soft sheer penguin sets of nylon tricot and nautical themes with polka dots were part of the lingerie scene. One in deep cerise shiny nylon jersey featured a pretty ruffle edge and sizzle pants to match. Soft cool cottons for warm summer nights were also favorites. Flares are still big in pants and cuffs, big cuffs are sneaking back. Accessories, matching bags, entone shoes and peaked Chevalier caps are part of the complete costume look. "Swab" collars are on everything, some in traditional braid trim, some with polka dots.

Classic blazers team up with pants and with skirts and even dresses. Hot pants look even better with over the knee entone socks.

While navy appears to be riding the crest of the color wave, red and white are also strong contenders. Mauves and multi colors on black as well as buttercup yellow and lime and pink are other favorites. Ties for feminine wearers are the big accessory—long ties, wide ties, pussy cat bow ties and scarves could make a whole new world if used with the dash and imagination one charming model demonstrated. Knotted around her head, perched on a knee and knotted together to form a sun time suit, you knot it, tie it or sash it, according to Miss Schuett.

IN THE SWIM

In swim wear the slinky look will charm the crowd at Hot Sands this year. Bikinis, more mini than ever, have a variety of cover-ups to wear with them, if you really want to.

One orange ice bikini used a "Sheik of Arabia" cover up most effectively and could cause a sailor to drop anchor on the beach for keeps. One piece swim suits feature huge cut outs and bare backs, all in wonderful colors to emphasize an Okanagan tan.

BILL 30

Kelowna Barrister To Outline Basics Of Family Relations Act

The Family Relations Act, presently under discussion at the legislature, will be outlined by Grant Shirreff, a Kelowna barrister, at a public meeting at Kelowna Secondary School on Thursday night.

The meeting, open to both men and women, is a follow up from a previous seminar on the Status of Women sponsored by the Kelowna Business and Professional Women's Club.

Among action lines approved by this meeting included: day care centres, personal identity and the maintenance of wives and children. It was through the latter discussion that seminar participants learned of Bill 30—or The Family Relations Act, pending final approval at the provincial legislature. Thursday's meeting is co-sponsored by the adult education committee.

Mr. Shirreff who was born in Kelowna, graduated from the Kelowna Senior Secondary School in 1962; received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1966 at the University of British Columbia and his Bachelor of Law degree in 1969. He articulated in 1970 and was called to the Bar Association in that same year.

He and his wife are active in community activities. Mr. Shirreff is a director of the Kelowna Boys' Club and belongs to a number of local clubs. He is also a member of the Kinsmen club. He enjoys both golfing and curling.

BILL 30

The Family Relations Act, which Mr. Shirreff will outline, is divided into seven parts, generally of matrimonial matters and family relations; judicial separation, alimony, maintenance and custody, family maintenance, parents' maintenance, reciprocal enforcement of maintenance orders and regulations, transition and repeal.

The purpose of this Bill is to enact a Family Relations Act which will codify, subject to the Divorce Act of Canada, the law pertaining to matrimonial and family relations and the remedies, children and liabilities of spouses, children and parents. It will replace the present Divorce and Matrimonial Cause Act and some provisions of the Supreme Court Act and Equal Guardianship of Infants Act, Wives' and Children's Maintenance Act and the Parents' Maintenance Act, as well as the Reciprocal Enforcement of Maintenance Orders Act.

Part four which will replace the Wives' and Children's Maintenance Act will also streamline the family court procedures.

ANN LANDERS

Plastic Surgery Emotional Syndrome

Dear Ann Landers: What shall I say to a close relative who keeps asking me if she should have her face lifted?

Teresa is in her late 40s and I think she looks fine. She has a great figure, excellent taste in clothes, and although her face does have some wrinkles, she's pretty and I can't understand why she would consider facial surgery. To compound the mystery, she's not a career person competing in the business world with younger women. Teresa has a wonderful husband, a beautiful home and a nice family.

The face-lifting thing has become an obsession with her. It's all she talks about. She feels it would enhance her looks and give her a tremendous psychological boost. Every time she asks me what I think I tell her she's crazy to consider it. I've seen some women who looked better before they had the operation. How can I talk her out of it?—Out Of Words

Dear Out: You can't, so don't try. Moreover, she's not looking for advice, she is merely trying to get your approval.

A woman who is obsessed with the idea of getting her face lifted will probably do it eventually. Her problem sounds more emotional than cosmetic.

Dear Ann Landers: A few days ago someone told me that the sister of a good friend of mine had died. I immediately sat down and wrote a sympathy note.

This morning I learned that I had been misinformed. My friend's sister is very much alive and no one seems to know where the rumor started. I feel like a fool. Please tell me what to do. Should I apologize, keep quiet, or what?—Too Sympathetic

Dear Too: Drop your friend another note and tell her you were misinformed. If she has a sense of humor you might paraphrase Mark Twain's famous remark, "The news of your sister's death was greatly exaggerated."

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter, who lives in a nearby city, is planning on a church wedding in a few months. She phoned to tell me the news. During the conversation she informed me that she has asked her fiancé's father to escort her to the altar and give her in marriage. The reason she stated is, "I feel close to him."

Her own father is an invalid and unable to attend the wedding. This girl has a brother who is one year younger than she is. When I suggested that she ask him she said, "He's going to be an usher." I'm afraid her father will be hurt. What should I do, if anything?—Rockford Problem

Dear R.P.: Your daughter's selection is inappropriate. Suggest that she discuss this with the clergyman who will perform the ceremony. He'll set her straight.

CANADIAN WINS

At Mt. Hood Meadows, Ore., Jim Hunter, 19, a Canadian from Calgary, Alta., races to victory in Mountain Belles Giant Slalom. He posted runs of 1:17.81 and 1:17.44 to beat field of 83 men. Women's single event was won by Sandra Poulsen of Olympic Valley, Calif., who was clocked in 1:38.87.

BASEBALL STRIKE

Both Sides Wrong —Fans The Losers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If newspaper columnists and editorials across the United States are any indication, neither baseball's owners nor players are on the right side of the current unprecedented strike.

The general viewpoint is that both sides are wrong—the players for striking in the first place and the owners for their way of reacting—and that the game itself and the fans are the big losers.

"Right has nothing to do with the dispute," says columnist Bob Hertz, baseball writer for the Cincinnati Enquirer.

"It goes deeper, right into the heart of the game that once was the national past-time but now threatens to destroy itself from within."

"There is this horrible idea that each side must show its strength. And there is the ingredient known as greed, greed on both sides, beautifully disguised and easily rationalized. . . . This game of strike is for losers only."

BOTH SHARE BLAME

Some have expressed the view that the owners have been too unyielding during the negotiations while others believe the players are demanding too much.

Jerry Nason of the Boston Evening Globe conveys both these attitudes.

"For their own good, the owners should come down out of the fortress tower and the players should settle for one Caddy in the garage at 65, instead of two," Nason writes. "Before Pete Rozelle (commissioner of the National Football League) decides that, with 66-man squads, the NFL could also play an April-June season."

Lloyd Larson, sports editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel, says the game may suffer even more after the strike is settled.

"The biggest of all dangers is a bitter aftermath," Larson writes. "Sad to relate, it seems to be building up because there is too much talking, with growing emphasis on sharp comments that serve only to put people in a fighting mood."

"It must be borne in mind that this isn't a typical industrial strike. In the sports business the workers—entertainers—are constantly on parade before the customers, whose reaction is a vital consideration."

COLUMNIST AGREES

Glenn Dickey, columnist for the San Francisco Chronicle, concurs.

"The public blames the players," Dickey says, "and the relationship between the fans and players will never again be quite the same."

Pete Waldmeir, associate sports editor of the Detroit News, says a major share of the blame rests not with the players or owners but with baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

"The strike," he says, "is merely another example of the lack of leadership in baseball's highest office."

But when sides are taken, the wave of editorial opinion goes heavily against the players.

"The players blundered in following Marvin Miller—right off the cliff," an editorial in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat says of the executive-director of the Major League Baseball Players Association.

Joe Falls, sports editor of the Detroit Free Press, says the strike "is getting silly already."

Marvin Miller has been a much needed and much appreciated man to the players. But what is he bringing them now?

"He is talking about pension money and more health benefits, but these are intangibles."

In fact, Miller may have blundered by forcing the issue of pension into a strike situation.

STILL DRAWS PAY
Chicago Tribune columnist Robert Markos wonders if any of the players "have considered that the only guy in their association still drawing a pay cheque is Marvin Miller."

The San Francisco Examiner editorializes that the players, "taken as a whole, have proved themselves a naive as well as a grasping lot in labor negotiations."

Leafs Defeated Bruins To Make Someone Happy

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Even if Toronto Maple Leafs go winless in the remainder of their Stanley Cup playoff series, there may be other clubs thanking them for beating Boston Bruins at least once.

The Leafs, edged the Bruins 4-3 in overtime in Boston Thursday to send the best-of-seven National Hockey League quarter-final set into Toronto tied at a win each. The third game is tonight, the fourth Sunday night in Toronto and the fifth Tuesday in Boston.

The Leafs now are riding what centre Jim Harrison calls "a great psychological uplift" and even if they can't win another game, they're sure to give Boston some trouble.

"Now it's a real tough series, real tough," said Boston defenseman Dallas Smith after the Thursday loss.

"A real tough series" for the Bruins means the pre-playoff picture that favored them to romp all the way to the Stanley Cup has changed.

RANGERS HAVE EDGE

New York Rangers' apparent ease in handling Montreal Canadiens also could affect the eventual outcome for the high-powered Bruins, East Division champions for a second year.

The Canadiens could rally but Rangers have the advantage of a 2-0 lead in their series going into Montreal for the third and fourth games tonight and Sunday.

The powerful Bruins were favored to have an easy time against the Leafs and again against the winner of the Minnesota North Stars-St. Louis Blues series in the West.

The Bruins then were likely to have a rest before meeting a tired victor emerging from the semi-final between winners of the Montreal-New York and Chicago Black Hawks-Pittsburgh Penguins series.

That projected road to the Stanley Cup has taken on added bumps with a rash of late-season injuries to Boston players although coach Tom Johnson said in Toronto Friday that most were healing satisfactorily.

DEREK DOUBTFUL

The only doubtful starter for tonight, said Johnson, was centre Derek Sanderson, who has been spending nights in hospital with an inflammation of the bowel.

Sanderson's feeling under the weather," said Johnson.

The Leafs also have their injury problems although coach King Clancy refused to name his casualties.

"We've got a couple of players who are hurting, and I mean really hurting," said Clancy. "I don't want to say who they are but you can take my word for it."

However, defenseman Brian Glennie, one of the toughest checkers for the Leafs in the series, was believed to be nursing a groin injury, although he denied having a serious injury after limping from the ice in Boston Thursday.

Clancy had special praise for the work of Glennie and defence partner Jim McKenny for their improved play.

"I was one that didn't know Glennie was that good," said Clancy.

KING SMELLS ROSES

"But he's improved 100 per cent. It just proves that if you give a guy a chance . . . the kid will come up smelling roses."

Glennie spent much of the season on the bench before winning a spot in the regular defence rotation after Mike Pelk-was sidelined by a knee injury and Jim Dorey was traded to New York.

Despite their two-game lead, the Rangers are not over-confident going into Montreal.

Ranger winger Rod Gilbert said Friday he figures the Canadiens "will return to normal at the Montreal Forum."

He said he expected the Canadiens to open up their attack on home ice.

"In the last two matches, Montreal players have played much more defensively—maybe this has made the difference."

"I also noted that they appeared to slow down after their second goal Thursday night."

Both games tonight and Sunday in Montreal and Toronto are scheduled to start at 8 p.m. EST.

Canadiens May Get Their Wish Of Turning Tide On Rangers

MONTREAL (CP) — If a sports event can repeat itself after a six-year lapse, Montreal Canadiens may be granted their wish to turn the tide on New York Rangers tonight in defence of the Stanley Cup.

Canadiens dropped 3-2 and 5-2 decision to the Rangers in the first two games of quarter-final play in New York Wednesday and Thursday.

In the 1966 Stanley Cup finals, they lost the first two to Detroit Red Wings by identical scores and came back to win the cup in six games of the best-of-seven playoffs.

The Canadiens will have to depend on the revival of the power play for scoring punch, says team captain Henri Richard.

Richard says the Montreal power play is "the best in the league."

However, Rangers Walt Tkaczuk, Billy Fairbairn, Rod Seiling and Jim Nelson controlled the puck so effectively on many of the Canadiens' eight power plays in New York the Montrealers had trouble getting a shot at goaltender Ed Giacomin.

Fairbairn and Tkaczuk say they like to kill penalties more than anything else.

"I like to control the puck more than shoot it," says Fairbairn, who scored two goals in New York, including Thursday's winner.

SHADOWS COUNTOYER
Another Ranger, rookie Gene Carr, has teamed with the New York defence to stop Yvan Cournoyer, Montreal's hottest scorer in regular-season play with 47 goals.

Cournoyer has managed only three shots on goal in the first two games of the series.

One bright spot on the Montreal team has been Claude Larose, who has scored two goals and played determined two-way hockey.

Terry Harper, known for his unorthodox style and aggressive play, has been one of the few Canadiens to throw his weight at the Rangers—when he's had the chance.

Harper has spent most of the first two games on the bench.

"They should be playing Harper regularly," said a Montreal fan. "He's the only one who'll mix it up with them."

The fourth game of the series is scheduled here Sunday night. Montreal coach Scotty Bowman says his team played well for the first two periods in both games, but appeared to collapse in the final frame of both contests.

The Canadiens' coach says he does not plan any major changes for the weekend.

Essos Grab BCJHL Title Now Tackle Red Deer

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — Scoring a goal in each period, Vernon captured the British Columbia Junior Hockey League championship Friday night with a 3-1 victory over Penticton Broncos.

It was the second victory in as many nights for the Vernon club which tied the best-of-seven final series 3-3 Thursday to force Friday's deciding contest.

Vernon, first-place finishers in regular league play, now meets Red Deer, Alta., in a best-of-seven B.C.-Alberta playoff starting in the Alberta city tonight.

Bill Vernon's goal at the 18:40 mark of the second period proved to be the winner Friday with Wayne Dye scoring the insurance marker into the empty Penticton net with only 27 seconds remaining in the game. John Price opened Vernon's scoring at 6:05 of the first period.

Penticton's Grant Mulvey chalked up Penticton's lone goal at 17:40 in the second period.

A capacity crowd of 3,200 saw Penticton's Glen Bueckert make 33 saves, while Vernon's Earl Bowe managed 28.

There were two minor penalties to each team, plus five-minute majors to Vernon's Dye and Penticton's Gerry Simey.

Vernon and Red Deer play tonight and Sunday in Red Deer, they go to Vernon for the third and fourth games of the inter-provincial series. A fifth game, if necessary, will also be played in Vernon, with sixth and seventh games in Red Deer.

Bid To Halt Boxing Probe Rejected By Manitoba Court

WINNIPEG (CP) — The provincial court of appeal Friday rejected an attempt by Barry Krawchuk, lawyer for former members of the Manitoba Boxing and Wrestling Commission, to halt a judicial inquiry into a controversial boxing card here Feb. 21.

Krawchuk was ejected from Judge Benjamin Hewak's one-man inquiry Thursday after repeated attempts to have the hearing postponed until a court made a ruling on another matter involving his clients.

His request for a court order compelling Judge Hewak to explain why he refused to postpone the inquiry was rejected at a closed meeting with Manitoba Chief Justice Samuel Freedman.

The former boxing commission members are Norm Coston, Don Rowand and Ray Dorey.

The commission of inquiry, appointed by the provincial government following the death of Stewart Gray of Toronto after he was knocked out by Canadian light-heavyweight champion pion Al Sparks of Winnipeg, heard testimony on the second day of hearings from Mohamed Ali Kameric, 31, of Regina.

Kameric, a native of Yugoslavia, was in a preliminary fight on the four-bout card.

Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo of Toronto, Nafis Ahmat of Toronto, Jesse Pagan and Sam Poke, both of Detroit, who later stated his life had been threatened if he did not lose in the second round of his match with Chuvalo, also fought in the preliminaries.

The hearing continues Monday.

Saanich Sinks By 5-0 Defeat

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Kamloops Veterans, who reached the finals by default, won the Kamloops International Brandy Hockey tournament Friday night by drubbing Saanich, B.C., 5-0 in the championship game.

The Ontario club, knocked out of the tournament earlier Friday by a 6-5 loss to Winnipeg in the A section finals, got a reprieve when Winnipeg withdrew from the tournament in order to compete in the Manitoba bantam championships starting in Brandon today.

Saanich reached the championship round by whipping Williams Lake, B.C., 5-2 in a playoff between the B and C section winners of the tournament that drew 36 entries from Canada, the United States and Europe.

Sarnia took a 3-0 lead in the first period on goals by Dave Brydges, Mike Crombeen and Bill Smith. Terry Farlow and John Harwood added second-period markers to wrap up the one-sided victory.

Saanich netminder Dan Rodger stopped 58 shots while Sarnia's Tim Bernhardt had to make only 14 saves.

Crombeen was named to the tournament all-star team at centre, with David Stekler of Winnipeg-East Kildonan at right wing and Mickey Rego of Boston-Malden, Mass., at left wing.

WCHL Fierce Battles —Little Won

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The battles were fierce but nobody won much in the quarter-finals of the Western Canada Hockey League Friday night.

Brandon Wheat Kings and Saskatoon Blades fought to a 3-3 tie in their series, sending the senior back to Saskatoon Sunday night. The Blades, who lead the best-of-seven series 3-2, need only a tie at home to advance into the semi-final.

The score was exactly the same Friday night in Calgary where the Centennials and Medicine Hat Tigers settled for a 3-3 draw and a dead-lock of two wins each—and the tie—in their series. They play again Sunday in Medicine Hat.

The only game that ended decisively was in Regina where the Pats got a pair of goals late in the third period for an 8-6 win over Flin Flon Bombers. Flin Flon, nevertheless, has a 2-1 lead in games, with the fourth coming in Flin Flon Sunday night.

Brandon had trailed Saskatoon 3-2 until Frank Taylor got the tying goal midway through the second period in the Wheat Kings' home-town game that had to be played in Winnipeg because no ice was available in Brandon.

McLAUGHLIN SCORES 2

Don McLaughlin scored the other two goals for Brandon.

Murray Meyers got two first-period goals for Saskatoon and Don McLaughlin scored the other.

Calgary had trailed before defenceman Jim Watson blasted a shot from inside the blue line through a maze of players to gain a tie.

Ed Johnston opened the scoring for the Tigers in the first period but Ron Homeniuk tied the score a few minutes later. Calgary went ahead again early in the second on Bob Nystrom's tally but Lanny McDonald of the Tigers tied the score midway through the second, then Jeff Abelt made it 3-2 for Medicine Hat.

Flin Flon came from behind four times in the game. Regina jumped into a 2-0 lead early in the first period only to have the Bombers even the count before the period ended. The story was much the same in the second period and the clubs went into the final 20 minutes tied 4-4.

Penguins' And Blues' Chances Not Bright To Observers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

To most observers, Pittsburgh Penguins' and St. Louis Blues' chances of overtaking their opposition in the first round of the Stanley Cup playoffs look bleak.

But their players and coaches remain optimistic despite the 2-0 leads held by Chicago Black Hawks over Penguins and Minnesota North Stars over the Blues in the best-of-seven series.

The Hawks visit Pittsburgh and the North Stars are in St. Louis for Saturday and Sunday encounters.

"I think we played a couple of good games," said Penguins' Bobby Leiter. "Our guys aren't down... and we know we can beat them."

"The home ice and the crowd will help," Pittsburgh coach Red Kelly said.

"We were within one goal Thursday and we could have come out a little better. They didn't run us out of the rink."

RUTHERFORD SAVES

The Penguins lost 3-2 Thursday, reflecting the excellent goal-tending they're getting from Jim Rutherford.

Minnesota needed overtime to get past the Blues on Thursday in a wild, loosely-played game.

"We've always been able to bounce back," said St. Louis coach Al Barkus.

An interesting sidelight to the confrontation in Pittsburgh's Civic Arena may be a renewal of the feud between Hawks' defenceman Keith Magnuson and Penguins' forward Eddie Shack.

Shack received a major penalty in the first game after Magnuson suffered a 12-stitch cut on his forehead from Shack's stick.

Chicago players spent eight minutes in the penalty box in the second game as a result of altercations with Shack.

Magnuson once dropped his gloves, indicating he wanted to fight, but Shack turned away.

"Isn't that stupid?" Shack said of Magnuson's move. "He drops his gloves while I still have my stick in my hands. Has he ever won a fight? I've never seen him win one. Has he ever tied a fight?"

Hawks are still heavily favored to win the series, and they'll likely be in a nasty mood, partly because of the $500 fines imposed on the club and left-winger Dennis Hull after Hull was caught using a stick with illegal curvature.

William (Dutch) Van Deelen, western supervisor of officials, called for a measurement with one minute remaining in the game Thursday and found Hull's stick to be three-eighths of an inch beyond the rules.

Van Deelen told Hull the stick curvature he checked before and after the game were not the same.

If the Blues are to "bounce back" as predicted by their coach, they'll have to solve the wizardry of Lorne (Gump) Worsley's goal-tending in the North Stars' net.

The 42-year-old Gumper hasn't been beaten by the Blues in his last nine games.

Archbishop Sees Threat From Richest Nations

VICTORIA (CP)—Archbishop Samuel Carter of Kingston, Jamaica, told the opening session of the fifth annual Western Conference of Priests recently that aid to developing countries in many cases helps to build up the economy of the donor country rather than that of the recipient.

"Two-thirds of the world's population is using up 12.5 per cent of the world's produced wealth, while one-third uses up 87.5 per cent," he said.

"This one-third already is setting up environmental problems that are insoluble. This is the road to disaster. How do we put the brakes on them?"

"Nobody has logically clear answers. Developed countries are trying to help developing countries with the best of good intentions, but it cannot and will not work.

"The aid in many cases helps more to build up the economy of the donor country than that of the recipient."

Archbishop Carter said the synod of bishops at the Vatican last fall lowered the "big guns" on Communism and industrial capitalism for their injustices.

'DEPRIVE THIRD WORLD'

Economic, political and cultural domination lie at the root of what can be considered injustice, he said, adding that "large industrial combines are depriving the third world."

Mrs. Sidney Callahan, writer-lecturer of Christian and women's topics, told the three-day conference that "women could and should minister in all ways that men do."

"Any creative form of ministry will have to include women," Mrs. Callahan said.

The psychology graduate student at Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, N.Y., was introduced to the clerics as "Your Loveliness."

She said that male and female relationships have been deformed in the past, centring around the power relationships.

"Women have been reduced to property, not persons, but something only in relationship to man."

"When women are submerged in the biological role, it leads to polarization. Then women are the other people, as with slaves, blacks and Indians."

FAVOR MARRIAGE

Other speakers at the session said they hoped to see the day when bishops would go to Rome with their wives and introduce themselves to the Pope.

Archbishop Ron Dobbin of Edmonton, president of the Western Conference, said in an interview that about 30 per cent of western priests belong to the organization.

He said their aim is to be "prophetic in so far as we strive to go beyond the present vision of the church in the world and to extend the vision and ourselves to new horizons as a vehicle of communication and expression of the total church toward the hierarchy and the laity—we are a moving force, a lobbying force."

He said the Western Conference is "unequivocally in favor of change in the celibacy laws."

Lutheran Hour Comes To City

The Kelowna Community Theatre will be the site for a Lutheran hour rally, August 27, featuring Dr. Oswald Hoffman as the speaker.

The First Lutheran Laymen's League will sponsor the event.

At a meeting held Wednesday C. G. Rullman, who will assist in completing the plans for the rally, represented the St. Louis Lutheran Laymen's League international headquarters.

"The Lutheran Hour is the largest non-government radio operation in the world," Mr. Rullman said.

He said it carries the gospel message into more than 125 countries in more than 40 languages. The program is broadcast by more than 1,500 stations.

They're Trying To Stir Churches

TORONTO (CP) — Some of the world's estimated 10 million lepers could receive better medical treatment if the established churches would "get away from the missionary connotation that's been associated with leprosy," Walter H. Davis said Friday.

"We're trying to shake the churches up a bit," said Mr. Davis, president of the Canadian Leprosy Council.

"We are appealing to the churches, the church organizations, which support practically 90 per cent of leprosy programs, to try to bring their programs into the mainstream of modern medicine under the competent direction of the World Health Organization."

Now They Know Which Is Which

TORONTO (CP) — Three years ago, Cecil Hall said Thursday, his daughter Janice, now 10, didn't know the difference between a Protestant and a Roman Catholic.

She does now. Three years of violence in strife-torn Northern Ireland has forced the Hall family to emigrate to Canada.

"We came here for the children, I suppose," Mr. Hall said in an interview as he told why he, his wife, Ann, and daughters Janice and Fiona, 5, left strife-torn Ulster behind them.

"We don't want them to grow up learning to hate."

STAY WITH RELATIVES

The Halls are Protestants but Catholics were among the friends who saw them leave Belfast last Friday.

Mr. Hall, 41, and the family are staying with relatives in Bramalea, on Toronto's western outskirts, until he finds a job.

"It got so we were afraid to go downtown," he said.

"It started downtown but then the violence spread. When a car blew up and killed four people at the bottom of our street last summer, we knew it was getting too close."

He was a carpenter working for the British army but "it was too dangerous."

"If the IRA found out, I don't know what would have happened—a knock on our door perhaps followed by a shooting."

The outlawed Irish Republican Army has claimed responsibility for much of the terrorism in Northern Ireland.

Father's Trouble With A Steak . . .

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My father has trouble eating steak and other coarse foods. Some-times it gets stuck in his esophagus. It worries me when he eats for fear the food won't go down. Could you tell me what to do about the problem?—E.F.

Wish I knew more about father: Age, whether he has good teeth, what his general physical condition is, how often he has this trouble.

First make sure he is chewing his food sufficiently and he eats slowly. Nobody can have trouble getting an unchewed chunk of beef down. Rapid eaters are likely to be gulpers.

Does he have his own teeth? Are they in adequate condition? If he has dentures, can they do the job for him or does he need some flaking?

If these measures don't solve the problem, an x-ray study of the esophagus (gullet) would be in order. One possible cause of the trouble is a pouch, called Zenker's diverticulum, which is usually in the upper third of the esophagus.

Weakening of the muscles involved in swallowing is another possibility. This can result from a variety of disorders that affect older folks.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am scheduled for an operation for an overactive thyroid. This is what worries me.

My doctor tells me it is hard to judge exactly how much of the gland must be removed and rather than take out too little and have to operate again, they tend to take out more than enough. He says I will then have an underactive thyroid which can be controlled through medication.

What really worries me is whether I will have a weight problem because of the under-active thyroid and have to stay on a diet the rest of my life. I know I could never eat the way I do now and stay as thin as I am.

It just doesn't seem right—that instead of completely correcting my condition through an operation, I will be going from one problem to another.—T.T.

I think you are worrying more than you need or ought to. Your doctor didn't work things the way I would have, but he more or less gave you the right picture, with this exception:

The intent isn't to make your thyroid deliberately underactive. It isn't always easy to gauge the exact amount, just as he told you. However, sometimes it can be achieved, removing just the right amount. But it's better to err on the side of removing just a little more than a little less.

In such cases, it is very simple and easy to use a small dose of thyroid substance to bring your thyroid to the exact activity which it should have. A weight problem does not automatically follow thyroidectomy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A neurologist diagnosed my trouble as multiple sclerosis. Could you give me an address to write to for information about it?—Mrs. L.U.

Multiple Sclerosis, Society of Canada, 76 Avenue Road, Toronto 5, Ont.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What dangers would there be in having a large fatty tumor removed from the back?—Mrs. L.B.

None in particular.

The bidding:

 Pass 1♥ 2♦ Pass
 3♦ 3♥ 5♦ Dble

Opening lead—jack of spades. In more hands there is much more to the play than meets the naked eye. Consider this deal where West led a spade against five clubs doubled. East won with the ace and returned a spade to the king, whereupon declarer played a trump to the ace, East showing out.

Had East followed suit, South would have made the contract by simply cashing the queen of clubs and taking a diamond finesse. But against the actual 3-0 trump division South had to play very carefully to bring home the contract.

Actually, South would have gone down had West discarded a heart instead of a diamond on East's queen of spades. Declarer could still ruff two diamonds in dummy, returning to his hand each time with a heart ruff. But, having accomplished this, he would have found himself in the wrong hand at trick twelve, with dummy having the J-9 of hearts, South the K-9 of clubs, and West the jack of clubs and a diamond.

The forced heart lead from dummy would have brought West the setting trick in the form of the jack of clubs.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You tend to be the centre of attention. Be ready to give a favorable account of yourself. It can be great fun.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Aside from your regular role in family and community Sunday customs, there are hobbies, sports, favorite amusements that need sharing.

Baseball Strike Continues

Where Does It Go From Here?

NEW YORK (AP) — Where does the baseball strike go from here?

"It's up to the owners to make a counter-proposal so we can start bargaining," said Marvin Miller, executive director of the striking Major League Baseball Players Association.

"I'm going home," said John Gaherin, representing the club owners.

The latest exchange occurred Friday night when the 24 owners unanimously rejected an offer by the players to start the season while pension negotiations resumed for up to three weeks, with an impartial arbitrator to be called in if no settlement was reached.

At the same time, the players' group announced plans to file unfair labor practice charges against the owners with the national labor relations board.

Dick Moss, counsel for the players' association, charged that at least three players have lost their jobs because of their activities with the group.

He declined to name them, but The Associated Press learned that one was pitcher Joe Horlen, recently given his unconditional release by Chicago White Sox.

CALLED 'OFFENSIVE'

Gaherin called the proposal to submit the dispute to arbitration "particularly offensive" to the owners. He then suggested that the players open the season while "the parties, with the assistance of such experts as may be necessary, continue to negotiate in good faith."

He said "such experts" could be actuaries, adding:

"We don't consider arbitrators to be experts."

"We offered that if they like, the arbitrator could be an actuary," said Miller.

"Since they haven't bargained in good faith yet, there's no reason to believe they would do so now," Miller said in rejecting that offer.

WANTS SECRET POLL

Gaherin also suggested that the players be secretly polled again on a strike. He said he "has received communication from almost every major league club indicating that some, and probably the majority, of the players want to return to the field."

"We believe the players generally agree with us and that they would, if given the chance to express themselves privately, vote to honor their individual contracts and play ball."

"We're prepared to call our board into session," replied Miller. "If the owners make counter-proposal."

He said, however, he has "talked to the player representatives constantly" since the strike began last Saturday, curbing spring training, "and the sentiment I get is that the players are solid and getting angrier by the minute."

"I believe that if the owners were polled again you'd find the same split you ever saw."

FOURTH DAY, NO BALL

Meanwhile, today was the fourth day of the baseball season, and for the fourth day, there was no baseball. There also were no further meetings scheduled to deal with the strike.

Two Unions Planning Strike In Vancouver For 24-Hours

VANCOUVER (CP) — The city faces a 24-hour work stoppage next Tuesday by its 3,000 inside and outside civic employees over a contract dispute.

The workers are members of two unions—Local 1004 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, representing the outside workers, and the Municipal and Regional Employees Union, representing inside workers.

Spokesmen said the stoppage will protest refusal of the city's bargaining agent, the Municipal Labor Relations Bureau, to continue negotiations.

In a joint statement, CUPE national representative Jack Phillips and Ken Phillips, business manager of the Municipal and Regional Employees Union, noted the unions previously served 72-hour strike notice and can legally strike at any time.

But the statement added that the unions want to return to the bargaining table and obtain a settlement without a strike.

THREATEN STRIKE

The statement said if the 24-hour protest does not result in the resumption of negotiations, "we will have to consider going on strike at an early date."

Negotiations broke off in February after the Municipal Labor Relations Board countered a union demand for a 20-per-cent wage increase in a one-year contract with an offer of an 8.5-per-cent wage boost in a one-year agreement.

A spokesman for the board, Graham Leslie, said there is no question of the board returning to the bargaining table because it had been made clear to the unions it had made its ultimate position known and the unions had rejected it.

Pair Arrested In Air Threat

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — FBI agents have arrested a Hayward man and woman in a $250,000 airplane bomb extortion plot last month against United Air Lines.

An FBI spokesman said agents arrested Alton Fain, 47, and Judith Wikstrom, also known as Judith Fain, 27, here Friday after a telephone caller negotiated with federal authorities to deposit a parcel containing $250,000 at a Hayward location.

Arrests followed Judith Wikstrom's attempt to retrieve the package, officers said. Both were charged with conspiracy to extort funds under threat of placing bombs on planes.

Negotiations for payment of the extortion money, officials said, had been carried on since luggage containing explosives was found March 7 at Seattle aboard a United flight from San Francisco.

The extortionist threatened to place bombs aboard two other flights unless the money was paid, authorities added.

Seabed Proposal To Hurt Canada

HALIFAX (CP) — A Halifax-based expert on the international law of the sea has claimed a recent United States proposal on ownership of the seabed would keep the U.S. continental shelf in American hands while giving much of Canada's shelf away.

Brian Fleming, a special advisor to the Canadian government on the law of the sea, told a service club that the U.S. position put forth recently by President Nixon was that the seabed beyond a depth of 200 metres should be put under international control.

"This is fine for the United States, because most of their continental shelf is at a depth of 200 metres or less," Mr. Fleming said. "But most of ours is at a depth of 200 metres or more."

'SEE-MEN'

Day wear was both practical and pretty in wonderful fabrics, such as cool printed jerseys, seersuckers, knits and forties. The nautical theme shared honors with peasant styles, prim Victorian ruffles, flounces and pucker tops and Tom-boy smocks looked super with deep cuffed pants.

Little ones too have smocked versions, in a pin dot with matching coin dotted floppy brim hat.

LEG SCENES

Colored panty hose are what's new for leg wear; sometimes in bright colors such as red for contrast and sometime entone to complete the ensemble. Light mauve hose completed a mauve and white two-piece outfit and deep pansy purple completed the color theme.

The bare back look is back for "after-five" wear and one maxi in jersey featured two straps at mid back, as attention getters.

Waistlines were accented and again colors were varied. On black and shiny white formal with plain black top, featured a flirty side slit. Some ankle dusters included matching hot pants. Gingham and checks and laced cummerbunds as well as deep hem flounces are all part of the party scene.

Brent Olson, who opened the Up and Away, also emceed the closing finale, when the candidates modelled their official Regatta dresses for the crowd. Identical in detail the mini dresses with navy slightly flared skirts feature a V waistline outlined with a deep band of red. The white bodice is trimmed with a red nautical emblem. Matching navy jackets in the short length completed their outfits.

'Lib' Enters Poodle Parlors

TORONTO (CP) — The sexual revolution has invaded the poodle parlor.

Toronto veterinarians say they now are giving "morning after" birth control shots to bitches suspected by their owners of living it up.

The pet shop owners report they are doing a roaring business in birth control pills which are supposed to make female dogs somewhat less alluring to male suitors.

The best customers, say the vets, are owners of purebred dogs who want to protect their animals from the consequences of liaisons with dogs of less distinguished ancestry.

The "morning after" shots are available to most Toronto animal hospitals for a fee of $7 to $9 depending on the size of the dog and are reported "very reliable" if given within 48 hours of straying from the path of righteous conduct, said one vet.

The birth control pills are patent medicines designed to make female dogs smell somewhat less alluring at the appropriate time. In the canine world, scent equals sensuality.

However, there's a group of medical researchers hard at work on the real thing at the University of Colorado.

Cats—which outnumber Toronto's estimated 70,000 dogs by a large margin—are a different bag. Hormone shots comparable to those used to keep dogs calm just get cats more excited.

"It makes things worse if we give a hormone shot to a cat," said Dr. Walter Stonehouse of the Toronto Academy of Veterinary Medicine.

YOUNG ARTIST

WATFORD, England (CP) — Baby Simon Palmer, 3, had a spree with a paint brush and an old pot of grey paint. First he painted the garden shed grey, then the coal bunker, the dog and finally himself. "I almost turned grey myself when I saw what he had done," Simon's mother said at her home in Hertfordshire. Now baby and dog are back to their normal color, although the shed and bunker will keep their new coat.

Instead of promoting birth control, kitty hormones act as a sort of aphrodisiac, sending them "howling and meowing all over the neighborhood."

Winfield Hall Association Elects Three New Directors

WINFIELD (Special) — Fifteen persons attended the annual meeting of the Winfield Memorial Hall Association on Thursday in the Centennial Room of the hall.

Three new directors were elected for a period of two years. Mrs. Ron Carter, Alf Hapier and Dick Dudlyke were all elected by acclamation.

Henry Redecopp, chairman of the hall board, reported on the recent improvements to the hall, made under the government sponsored Local Improvement Program. The cloak room and the table storage area have been newly paneled. By finishing the table storage area it is now feasible for this to be used as an extra room for the placement of more tables during a large banquet.

The roof of the building is being completely renovated at the present time. There are five local men working on this project, estimated at a cost of $3,000.

Peter Loftis, regional librarian from Kelowna, spoke to the meeting in favor of the proposed change to the library. A motion was passed to re-locate the library to the hall basement. Plans are to make this a comfortable room, complete with carpeting and to extend the library hours considerably.

Mr. Loftis stated that the library board will pay $30 per month rent and he can see no objection to other meetings held in this room, providing locked sliding doors are made for the shelves.

In other business, Mrs. Ron Carter proposed many kitchen renovations. A committee will be formed to submit plans for the hall board's approval.

John McCoubrey, regional representative and long time hall board member, welcomed all suggestions and invited donations of money or equipment from any organization that makes use of the hall.

The hall board rental receipts for 1971 totaled $2,337. Liabilities amounted to $2,147. Two donations were received, one from the Winfield Lions Club for $200 and a $25 donation from the Old Age Pensioners' Association.

YOUR OPINION PLEASE

The basis of the secret ballot is that the TIMID will not be influenced.

At the last several elections voters have had to use a table with a piece of cardboard sitting on three sides. This innovation has replaced the traditional compartment in which the voter is out of view.
